People in Pittsburgh and around the world face growing housing insecurity as corporate landlords and global finance make record profits by purchasing residential properties and fueling urban displacement, evictions, and houselessness. Join us to view and discuss the documentary film, Push, and learn how local advocates are coming together here to promote renters' rights and community control over housing policies. Food will be provided.

Panel Discussion with: Sabina Dietrick & Chris Briem (University Center for Social and Urban Research) & Randall Taylor, Penn Plaza Support & Action Coalition.

Co-Sponsors: Thomas Merton Center, City Rights Human Alliance, and the PGH Housing Justice Table
